LARRY KING BRINGS NEW YORK BAGELS TO BEVERLY HILLS

Have things gotten so tough for Larry King that he's now making bagels? Well, it's not what it seems at first. The TV legend now has his very own bagel shop.

He cut the ribbon, covered with bagels, for the official opening of the Original Brooklyn Water Bagel Company, located in the center of Beverly Hills.

INSIDE EDITION caught up with King at the grand opening.

"I said to myself, someday if I could have a beautiful, tall wife and my own bagel store, life would be complete," said King.

Larry was there with his wife Shawn and their two kids, fresh from Little League practice.
